

3 questions that leaders are asking themselves...

How can I lead our people, now, with clarity, care and impact?

How can I build remote teams that survive and thrive?

How can I plan for the future of our organisation, while leading in crisis?

In response to the coronavirus crisis, we have created a coaching package specifically tailored to enable leaders to find answers to these, and other questions, fast.

Consisting of 3 coaching sessions and targeted at senior leaders, this package can be rolled out immediately.

We've helped individuals, teams and organisations to survive and thrive in tough times - our experience informs our focused framework for success during this crisis.

		What / Where / How
Look After Yourself First	Stay focused and resilient, leading with compassion, clarity and impact	6 hours of coaching (3 x 120 minute sessions)
Look After Your Team, Fast	Lean into your anxiety and deal with feelings Sustain motivation, momentum and facilitate collaboration and connection to lead others well	Delivered virtually via Zoom, Teams, Facetime or the platforms you choose Immediate set up
Lead your Organisation Into A New World	Thinking about a new future focus and planning for the longer term; balancing the immediate with the mid-term	Speak with your Wondrous contact to book